DISINFECTION.

Disinfection is so essential a factor in clean living in Hongkong that some remarks by Dr Lauzun Brown on the subject of disinfecting achoolrooms should not be amiss. The doctor says that soap and water have been in use for ages, and were used with great advantage in the old days o "Hospitalism," when over 90 per cent. of operation wounds were poisoned in spite of soap and water. Constant scrubbing floors and walls is a tedious, irksome and DAY, MAY 11, 1907, commencing at 9 P.M. costly method of cleansing, and even the energy of a Dutch dairymaid will no sorub the scarlet fever or diphtheria Grace, Lammert, Jokl, Sutherland, Worcesgerms out of an infected schoolroom floor. Whiteness of wood does not mean steriliza tion or safety from infection. Science shows that something more is required, and SANE, CRAWFORD & COMPANY and Messrs has provided it in effective disinfectants. These alone, when properly used, have the infectious diseases: Let the surgeon drop his sterilized knife or any other instrument on the schoolroom floor, and he will immediately place it in a bath of disinfectant before again attempting to use it. The virtue and power of disinfectants.

country practice the art of disinfecting homes and public places in the most absurd and perfunctory manner. Every one recollects how post-offices recked with crude carbolic, which was sprinkled on the floor | HONGKONG AND SHANGHAI BANK- | minutes from Clock Tower. which will shortly be ready to produce on a or laid away thickly in some corner of the large scale the best Buzen Coal. room. Medical officers of health or the lads appointed by them, will, in the name Agencies of the Company will receive any of disinfection, light a sulphur cone and order for Coals produced from the above tear the paper off the walls of the room in T. MATSUKI, Manager, Hongkong, which an infectious patient has lately been suffering. Moths, butterflies, and even careless disinfecting process has been Resolutions :finished. Such a process is a shan and a farce. Some houses n which infective diseases exist, as, for instance, in the case of epidemic diar hoea, which caused 18,600, deaths in London alone in infants, equivalent. to 144 per 1,000 births (1904), are either not disinfected at all or else the process is performed more as a rile and ce emony than as a real aid to the public

Most things, visible or invisible, science has revealed to us, are distinguished by simplicity, and the effective methods of dust cleansing is no exception to this rule. It is also an uncostly process, and there is really no reason except that conviction has not yet been brought home to the minds of those most responsible for its due performance. The old method of springcleaning is as out of date as the ancient Roman festivals, and as antiquated as the institution of the Passover. I have seen medical officers gravely "disinfecting"save the mark! a negro's hut, in which deaths from small-pox had taken place, by putting a lump of sulphur into a pail standing in water, stuffing up all the crevices with dried grass and burning the sulphur. This rite was gravely performed in the name of disinfection, and the place was afterwards reported to the Governor as having been satisfactorily cleansed. The method nowadays in use is much more effective. It consists of spraying on the floors and walls and effective disinfectant, one which is capable of uniting with the dust, and having done so, of destroying all the germs which have found lodgment in its particles. There are many so-called disinfectants. One largely used for its efficiency is Cyllin. This is peculiarly necessary in schoolrooms, into which so 828 much dust is brought from the outer world every day. Children love dust, and rel in it in the open air without any harm. When dust, however, is brought into contact with infectious matter in a close, warm will conduct same in future under the style of BUMANN & BERBLINGER. with infectious matter in a close, warm moist room, it not only acts as a breeding nest for infectious germs of the diseases to which children are especially prone, but tends to provoke fits of coughing and sneezing, thus scattering millions of discase germs into the atmosphere. When air is still, the dust filters down through the germ-lader atmosphere of the room, and carries the germs to the schoolroom floor or to whatever place the dust can find a

TROUBLE WITH BLUE-JACKETS.

WASHINGTON, May 2. The War Department has receive advices from Commander Chapman of th protected cruiser- "Tacoma" lying in the harbor of Santingo de Cuba, to the effec that ten members of the crow of tha cruiser have been injured by the police of Santiago. It appears that the crew of the Tacoma were taking shore leave and were set upon by the police of the city in a con Comprising:—

DRAWING ROOM SUITE, IRON and BRASS certed action and badly beaten up. The police of Santiago have resented th presence of the Americans in the port ever since the "Tacoma" anchored there.

A partial investigation on the part of the officers of the "Tucoma" indicates that the assault was unjustifiable and unprovoked

TURKISH REVENCE IN COURT

Tragic Incident at Stambul.

CONSTANTINOPLE, March 30. A trage incident occurred on Thursda in the criminal court of Stambul during the trial of a prisoner named Mustapha fo shooting a fellow spy named Arif Bey som five months ago. Arif's brother, who was in court, and had followed the trial closely. on hearing that the murderer of his brother was about to be acquitted, drew a revolver and deliberately fired four shots at Mustapha, killing him on the spot. The assailant then throw down the revolver and surrendered, saying, "This is justice." One of the five persons seriously wounded by the bomb which exploded in the Pera quarter near the English girls' school. last night, was an Armenian named Keuchoglu, formerly an intimate friend of the notorious Fehim Pasha, who was lately exiled at the instance of Baron Marschall von Bieberstein, the German Ambassador. 803 It is supposed, therefore, that the act was one of private revenge on the part of Fehim Pasha's followers, Keuchoglu ing recently broken with his fo associates. Another explanation is the outrage was perpetrated by secret police with a view of . jus ing their existence, for large sums spent annually on their maintena These outrages are becoming a se menace to public safety, but the author appear impotent to put a stop to t The bomb which exploded last nigh powerful one, loaded with bu Windows in the neighbourhood broken, and shutters pierced by the Happily, the streets in this fashio quarter of Constantinople were paratively empty at the time, or ch loss of life and injuries to passers by do anything for you. Whilst we were there we were invited to a native dance given by Princess Faamu (the daughter of the late King Malietoa Lauppa) which was being given in honour of some and arrowroot and other dishes, the natives who were assembled in the house, began to dance. The dance was performed sitting, and feet and weird swaying of the body. Princess Faamu, fired by the actions of the was dressed in banana leaves and her body was oiled with coconnut oil until it glistened wreathed round her neck. Eventually she became so impetuous and boisterous, so carried away as it were, that she tore off and murmuring palm trees, and succumbed everything she wore with the exception of a "titi" which covered her loins, and forgot everything but the joy and the enchantment of the dance. The assemblage beat time with their hands on the matting, and gradually made it quicker and quicker. It is impossible to imagine the startling weirdness of the picture that was presented to us. You must have seen a charming Princess in her wild beauty performing the dance; you must have seen the rich and lovely structure of the house, the floor mystical and bewitching by the flickering lights from the numerous cocoanut oil wild but still harmonious singing, before it is possible for you to realize what this dance is like. At all events it will remain in our memories fresh and unsullied for all

In Apia we visited the grave of Robert Louis Stevenson. His house was called "Vallima," and is now taken over by the Governor as a residence. It is to be regretted that nothing has been left to perpetuate the memory of the famous writer. The house has been rebuilt. Stevenson's grave is situated on midst of magnificent tropical verdure.

There is nothing to disturb the peace of the spot and nothing to destroy its granduer. Wild flowers and fresh green woods invest the vicinity with a delightful aroma and one when one stands and reads the verses on the tomb which marks the last resting place music in his cars.

It is far above the level of the sea, is perfectly round, and contains mirror themselves in the pellucid lake. On the surface of the water not a leaf is to be seen and the fact that whatever falls into the water sinks to the bottom has convinced the natives that the water is enchanted.

The cultivation of the coconnut claims the attention of most of the foreign traders in Samoa and occupies most of the available land, the present high price of copra making it a profitable enterprise. Rubber plantations have been started but it has been conclusively demonstrated that rubber will never be the profit-maker in Samoa that cocoanut is .- All kinds of tropical fruits abound in the islands, and the bread-fruit can be classed as the best social conduct as is to be found amongst and most sustaining of the plants. > THE BOMBAY MILL INDUSTRY.

Вомвау, Аргі! 20. Speaking at the annual meeting of the Millowners Association, the Chairman in alluding to the features of the industry during the past year said there had been a great increase in the production of both yarn and cloth, but despite that 55,000 bales less had been shipped to China. He was glad to see there had been larger consumption in India due, he believed, to the interest taken by the people in the Swadeshi 827 movement. He expressed thanks to Government for the measures taken to obtain a ready market for Egyptian Sind cotton in India believing the high prices realised would lend the Zemindars to extend the crops. In alluding to the Tata hydroelectrical scheme he said when that was introduced it would involve a saving in expenditure on steam power of between ten and fifteen per cent. There would be no smoke and there would be greater clean-
